Slam Dunk! In this game you can use one or more sets of the square basketball cards depending on how many students are playing. Place all the cards in a bucket, basket or something festive. I found a basketball Easter basket at the dollar store that I use. Students take turns drawing cards and saying the words. If they say them correctly, they get to keep the card. Otherwise, the card goes back in the basket. There are some 'special' cards added in to make it a bit more interesting. A 'Slam Dunk' card means you get an extra turn. A 'Double Dribble' card means you have to put 2 cards back. Play continues until time is up or all the cards are gone. When this happens count up all the cards to see who is the MVP.

Basketball Words Memory Played like traditional memory, you will need two sets of the square cards face down. Students take turns turning over two cards, saying the words and trying to find a match. The student with the most matches wins.
