Small Playing Cards

Setting: These are also the cards you'll use for sorting diagrams once you have introduced them into the graph. The first the orthographic of the word of the entry. The cartoon is placed right at the end of the word and the picture is placed with the diagram you have introduced for. Students can select a card randomly from a pile (or better yet, find a card that you can use as a primary rule and fill with identified proper nouns, words or whatever you can find that a friendly or helpful and then place it under the correct diagram label or in the correct diagram container. I often use a fun, fun, funny, funny for the activity too, or the thumbs up/down down cards to keep things interesting. This is a favorite activity in my class. There is a recording sheet if you need one.

17. Please note, you will find two sets of playing cards. I wanted to give you the option of having cards that were the same color as the other diagram sets so that you can make sorting a bit more challenging if you would like.

Small Playing Cards

Setting: These small playing cards are used for playing memory. Like to do this in either a professional chart like the standard target, but you can make do if you have any home chart space. This is a fun traditional memory with students matching the word with the correct corresponding picture.

Class: This is the best! You may want to make a try to your local card store for this one. I have 48 cards, four on each side. Laminate them and set them in colorful containers for your students. They can then use them along with the small picture cards to practice writing the words from the diagram word family.

Self-Correcting Stations and Write the Room

Include these game cards along with the list on which you can have students take turns reading or writing the words. If your students are not capable of writing the words, you can use these cards to help them. Use the list to help them along. It is also a good idea to have them write the words on a separate sheet of paper. Then students are required to bring out and hand in the different words in each word bank. It is not necessary to hand in all of the words at the end of the writing the words.

Each digraph card includes a set of self-correcting cards for that digraph. There are two different cards to choose from depending on the readiness of students. Students can be self-correcting or make the station independent. The cards are a variety of materials to extend the station. The "I" section can use magnetic letters, white playdoh and letter stamps or beads. Be creative your materials to keep the station interesting. Includes more and more digraphs. The cards grow with and provide fun of word work on

A Silly PH Word Story
Total

Once there were two friends, an elephant named Phoebe and a gopher named Philp who lived in Philadelphia. The elephant and gopher loved to take photos together, and they would talk every day on their phones. Sometimes the gopher would play his xylophone on the phone to his friend Phoebe the elephant. Sometimes Phoebe, the elephant, would sing the alphabet to her friend Philp, the gopher, on the phone. Sometimes they would make music together in a microphone. One time they won a trophy for it. When they got sick, they took care of each other. When Philp got sick, Phoebe took him to the physician. Then when Phoebe the elephant got sick, Philp ran to the pharmacy for his elephant friend. And that's the story of Philp the gopher and Phoebe the elephant.

Everything Else

Who's Hiding in Seats? This activity gives your students an opportunity to practice reading digraph words while playing a fun interactive game. Place digraph cards in a small pocket chart. Behind one word card hide the picture above. Students then point to and read a word where they believe the picture is hidden. If they guess correctly, they get to hide the card next. You can use cards from more than one digraph or just one digraph.

You can't Hide! This is a game that you can play as your students are introduced to more and more digraphs. Add as many digraph word cards as your students are ready for in a festive basket or bucket, along with the special playing cards. Students take turns pulling cards and reading the words aloud. If they say the word correctly, they keep the card. If not, the card goes back in the bucket and it goes to the next player. A "You are a thief" card means you get to "steal" a card from each person playing. A "trash" card means you lose a turn. A "Wish" card means that you get to go again. A "Finish" card means play stops, and count cards to see who wins.

Roll-Say-Keep Use the small word cards and add the cards from above to make play a bit more interesting. Use this game when you have introduced several word families and would like to give your students more practice. Place all cards face down in a pile and the deal out one card to every position on the mat. Students roll the dice and say the word on that number's spot. If the student gets it correct, they will keep the card. If not, the card stays in that spot and play continues to the next person. When a card is "won," another card is taken from the pile and added to the empty spot on the mat. Play continues until the Break card is drawn or until there is no more time remaining. Players count up the cards to see who is the winner.
